VectorVest has already done the work for you. In fact, VectorVest is the only system that analyzes, ranks and graphs over 21,500 stocks everyday for Value, Safety and Timing. VectorVest is the only system that combines fundamental and technical analysis to give you a complete picture of every stock and a clear Buy, Sell or Hold recommendation. And VectorVest is the only system you can trust to keep you on the right side of the market.

“When I designed this system I did not have time to look through thousands of stocks. I needed answers fast and that’s why I created VectorVest”

Dr. Bart DiLiddo

In 1978, Dr. Bart DiLiddo, Ph.D. began to create mathematical models that clearly define EXACTLY what causes a stock’s price to rise or fall. No opinions. No guesswork.

He discovered that all the influencing factors could be summed up in mathematical value models, mathematical safety models and mathematical timing models. After testing and retesting, he discovered that the models worked.

Profits were reaped even during the worst recent stock market chaos. This stock market trend analysis system has been proven over and over again.

The result is MAXIMUM PROFIT with MINIMUM RISK. It’s the most powerful stock analysis software available anywhere at any price!

This amazing software is for any kind of individual investor. It’s easy to use. Just two or three clicks of your mouse and you’ve got a world of powerful, objective information at your fingertips.

You get clear BUY signals, but you also get clear SELL or HOLD signals. This is important. Most investment advisors will tell you to buy, but often too late. And they might tell you to sell. Again, often too late.
